

The title of my diploma work is The analysis of textbooks complexes from the spelling point of view. There are defining concepts in the theoretical part: what the textbook is and its functions, criterions of the choice of a textbook and criterions of the analysis of a textbook.

The aim of this research in the practical part is to find out the spelling methods of teaching at schools, the various textbook approach how to learn spelling and how the Czech pupils cope with the new rules of the German spelling.
